Stony Plain Town Council.

The special meeting of the Town Council held Thursday night dealt with the tenders for the used tank lumber. The tender received was refused, and the offer of $35 from E Weidenhammer was accepted. On motion, the accounts in connection with the Swanson contract were laid over till the regular monthly meeting. The request from Councillor Outway that the town extinguish the fire in the nuisance grounds was acceded to, and the entire Fire Brigade and paraphernalia was ordered to proceed to the spot at their and its earliest possible convenience. During the proceedings, Councillor Armbruster delivered himself of a happy thought when he said we should patronise home industry in every possible way—or words to that effect.

Become a Member for $1.

Every person in Alberta who is financially able to, should at least become a member of the Red Cross Society. Those who feel that they ought to do more will have an opportunity to make a donation over and above the regular membership fee during the week of the drive, Nov. 5 to 11. Rare a member and help this good work.

How to Get 'Em.

The latest suggestion for getting members for your local U. F. A. is to boycott any of your neighbors who do not join. This means do not sell him anything, do not purchase anything from him, refuse to help him thresh or round up his cattle and under no circumstances allow your wife or your children to visit his children. This suggestion was actually made by one of our members at our last meeting. —Claymore Correspondent in Varillon Standard.

Bar B Ranch,
October 2nd, 19—

Exhibitions and fairs are extraordinarily popular in Western Canada. In it, as Mr. O'Hara has been heard to say, Canadians must have something to celebrate. The Carbon City Annual Exhibition was held on Thursday and Friday of last week, and we all went in from the Bar B for the two days. To judge by the crowds which thronged the fair grounds, the neighbouring ranches must have been depopulated. I am sure that everyone for miles around was in town. Men, women and children, white Indians and Chinese, all dressed in their best, and all good-naturedly, oblivious to the discomforts due to lack of accommodation, passed and repassed each other, and gave the Carbon City quite a metropolitan air.

A seventeen-piece theatrical troupe was in town, as also was an eighteenth-century circus. The artists connected with these two organizations played at our hotel. In fact, the Great American Gaiety and the Snake Charmer had the bedroom just across the hall from me, while the Armless Lady was next door! They were very modest and unassuming in manner, and when the Gaiety came to my door to ask for the loan of a needle and thread, one would have supposed that she was "a personage of international celebrity."

The members of the theatrical company were more exclusive, and so not so fortunate as to make the acquaintance of any of them. However, Mr. Livingstone and I went to see then in "A Knight of the Prairie," on Thursday evening. The play was the usual western melodrama—with a heroine who made me think of Jerry Brown's mother and her fears, and a hero who looked no more like a cowboy than he looked like the Lord Chief Justice—and the scenery had evidently been mixed in train. In the last act, where the bold bad cattle-thief is confronted with the proofs of his guilt and the heroine confesses that she has

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O.,
Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Nervine Food, the Nervine Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nervous whole system seemed to give way, though not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for years, which would take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch all the time, and I was unable to sleep. After taking several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nervine Food, I feel myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

misjudged the hero, "though her heart was ever his," the actors showed up beautifully against a Forest of Arden background, with a tree-covered church in the middle distance. The must not forget to mention the Bag Lady, who is an indispensable feature of "dramas of western life." Surely such an Englishman as never was on land or sea! The wire hangers of the most pronounced type and carried a monochrome, and his conversation consisted chiefly of such phrases as, "I say, dear boy," and "Don'tcher know," spoken with an atrocious pseudo-Cockney accent. He was exceedingly popular with the audience, who shouted with laughter whenever he raised his monocle to his eye. There was no orchestra, but between the acts an imitation Padrevsky played popular songs on an old piano, half of whose notes—the piano's, I mean—did not sound at all, and the other half were out of tune. But the audience very kindly joined in the choruses, so no one missed the orchestra. Taking it altogether, the performance was vastly more amusing than any musical comedy I have ever seen, and I enjoyed the evening immensely.

I enjoyed the Exhibition too. We spent Thursday morning viewing the exhibits, and I found much to admire—prize pigs, patchwork quilts, Indian beadwork, china painting, and amateur photography to mention only a few of the sections.

But even prize pigs lose their charm eventually, and "it was" when it was time for the afternoon programme of sports. We had good seats in the grandstand. By the way, the unexcused part of the grandstand is known as "The Bleachers"—isn't that a delightful piece of irony?

For once posterity got the truth, for without a doubt "The Grand Event of the Fair" was the Indian Parade with "dancers" in the most magnificent parade consisted of about fifty "braves," who, clad in their war-paint—very little of which was painted on horseback—twice around the race-track. Quite a number of the horses were piebald, and their riders wore white spurs decorated with geometrical designs painted in the gaudiest of colours. Most of the horses were painted, several of them wore eagle-crest feathers, and nearly all had beautiful headgear. The parade was a fearsome sight, and if they had given just one war-hoop I am sure I should have crawled under a seat. No need to complain that these did not look like real Indians! With the braves, but at a respectful distance to the rear, came their natural coveys—the "fair." There were not as many women as men, perhaps not more than a dozen in all, but they too were in all their finery. Three or four of the women had two or three children on the horse with them, and were six entries, and the signal to start was given eleven times. The long-suffering judges at last gave up trying to have the horses start together, and it was lucky that they did so, otherwise we might have been waiting yet for the race to begin. As it was, one pony bailed, one wheeled and galloped around the track in the wrong direction, and finally a little girl, not more than seven or eight years old, brought her one-eyed charger to the tape in triumph, thirty yards ahead of the others. She took the thundering applause very calmly; to all appearances she might have been a jockey all her life.

One of the "spectacular" events failed to materialize. A $10,000 prize had been offered to the man who should succeed in riding an "outlaw" at a specified distance. An "outlaw" is a horse which cannot be broken, which has all the tricks known and a few not yet discovered, and which can only be ridden at peril of life or limb, so I looked forward to an exciting half-hour. Mr. Livingstone, who is said to be one of the best horsemen in the country, had entered for the competition. But this outlaw had one trick that had never been seen before, even by the oldest inhabitant. When he was led out into the ring, he positively refused to rear, kick, bite, or run away. Thin whistles and torn paper merely bored him. With a melancholy air and drooping head he planted his four feet firmly on the ground and kept them there, instead of standing on his head after the manner of the picture-postcard broncho. Even the shouts of laughter and the cries of "What's the matter with Livingstone? He's all right!" failed to arouse him, and with a very foolish expression Mr. Livingstone mounted and rode the required distance. But he refused to claim the prize; and it was announced that the contest would be repeated on Friday. If ever a horse laughed up his sleeve, I am sure that one did. Why, I could have ridden him! I did not see the contest on Friday—Mrs. Bingham took me with her to make some calls—and I am very glad that I did not. The first and only man who tried to mount this very horse was thrown, trampled badly, and had his arm broken.

In accordance with my resolve to show the good with the bad in my Canadian diary, I must admit that there were things at the fair which I did not like. How civilized people can look with approval on the steers-roving contest is a mystery to me. On the ranches it is doubtless needless to pit a man on horseback against an im-furled steer; but when it is done for amusement, I draw the line. It was exciting, I must confess, and both men and horses seemed to enjoy the sport, even if the cattle did not. But when one maddened steer charged furiously and scored a gallant little horse, I came to my senses with a shock of shame. "Gee, that's nothing," exclaimed a man behind me; "there were three steers and two horses killed last time. These Alberta cowboys aren't on to their job back home. I've seen a worse steer than that roped and tied in thirty seconds, and nobody hurt." Plunging blindly, the horse put a few yards between itself and the steer, then crumpled into a heap, taking the rider down with it. Before I could turn my eyes away from the sickening scene, the man jumped to his feet and two revolvers rang out in the stillness—the first one sent the horse to the Happy Hunting grounds, and the other was just in time to stop the steer in its second wild charge. The grandstand shook with applause—who could help applauding a man that the cool courage to put his horse out of agony before thinking of his own danger? And that man was Lawrence Page! Is it any wonder that England rules the world when even the "degenerate" can act in such a way?

But to return to the pleasant things. After the steers-roving came the relay race, in which each contestant—there were five—rode four horses; that is, after riding the first horse around the quarter-mile track, she dismounted, mounted a fresh horse, and went on, doing this until she had gone four times around, with a different horse each time. I did not forget to point out to Mr. Livingstone that the race was won by a girl who used a side-saddle, while the other four contestants rode astride. I am sure that I must enter next year; I should love to if I think by that time that I can ride well enough. In a little place such as Carbon City everyone takes an interest in the Exhibition who wishes to do so, and where everyone knows everyone else there is no unpleasant publicity.

On the whole, I spent two very enjoyable days, and I feel as if I have seen still another phase of Western life. Mr. Livingstone and I had a long conversation about the things which shocked me. He seemed to understand my amazement that such a thing should be going on, but apparently nice people, and he admitted that he always voted against the steers-roving contest. But riding a bucking horse or an outlaw is different, he hastened to add. "A horse is always more or less a gentleman, he is going to kill you he'll do it like a gentleman." He laughed at me when I coaxed him not to enter the contest on Friday, but finally he let me have my way. And now, in view of the accident which occurred, in which he might so easily have been the man hurt, he says that I am a witch.

Mr. Livingstone has never yet mentioned our meeting at Elba, even though he has spoken several times of having received letters from his mother or sisters. I suppose this is the far-famed Scotch "dourness" or maybe he is trying to see how long a woman can keep a secret.

Selling War Supplies

Motor Vehicles Bought Cheaply and Resold at High Figure

A new story of our methods of disposing of surplus army property comes from Ludd, in Palestine, where the motor vehicle and appliances belonging to the Egyptian Expeditionary Force were "dumped" ready for sale. Apparently there were few buyers in this out-of-the-way part of the world, and the sale did not receive much publicity in Cairo and Port Said.

According to a correspondent, the consequence was that the cars were sold for £20 apiece on the average and then taken into Cairo, where they were eagerly bought up at prices running into three and four figures.—London Weekly Dispatch.

TELLS HOW CATARRH IS DESTROYED QUICKLY

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be freed up right at home by inhaling "Catarrhose." In using Catarrhose you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages. The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, food secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and the disease ends quickly. Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhose is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed. Bronchitis, irritation and weakness in the throat soon disappear. Use Catarrhose whether young or old. Two months treatment, $1.00, small size 50c, dealers everywhere or The Catarrhose Co., Montreal.

There are people who never seem to get a chance to do anything except the things they can't do.

Radio May Be Used To Transmit Power

New Development Next Important Step Says Marconi

Transmission of power from Niagara Falls to New York by radio is a possibility of the future in the opinion of Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation. This prediction by the noted engineer followed the success of a 16-hour test of electron tubes in place of large alternators in transmitting wireless messages across the Atlantic Ocean. Possibility of power transmission by the use of electron tubes has stimulated the imagination of scientists, who for some time have believed that wireless transmission of power might come to pass. The almost infinite possibility of the tubes attracted the attention of Marconi when he was at New York, and their development, he said, was the next most important step in wireless.

Claims Action Of The Government Was Beneficial To Millers

Toronto.—The Federal Government would not be justified in obtaining the complete satisfaction of one group at the price of causing unrest and discontent in the western provinces, declared Hon. Thamus A. Law, Federal Minister without Portfolio, in addressing the Dominion Millers' Association at their annual banquet. He was defending the Government's action in endorsing the Wheat Board last summer—a measure opposed by the millers as a whole.

The action of the Government was really beneficial to the millers, for it was decidedly to the advantage of the members of Canada's greatest industry that the large group of men producing their raw materials should be contented and cogent, he said. The good faith of the Government in its desire to guarantee the millers protection also was evidenced by the fact that to the minister of trade and commerce, himself a miller, was entrusted this legislation, and by the further fact that the flour and milling interests were exempted from certain clauses which might have been judicial.

Preparing For Postal Conference

Canada and United States Will Discuss Many Subjects

Ottawa.—Subjects for the forthcoming postal conference between Canada and the United States will probably include: Limit of weight of merchandise between Canada and the United States; rate on merchandise passing by post between the two countries; insurance of parcels; special delivery service; co-operation between railway post offices in Canada and the United States; money order services; customs declarations; rates on prints, sample, and commercial papers; address of sender on parcel; mail between the two countries; exchange of mails between Windsor and Detroit, with perhaps a joint arrangement for conveyance of mails both ways; transit of United States mails through Canada; reciprocal exchange of postal equipment between Canada and the United States; and direct correspondence between postmasters in Canada and the United States.

Mothers, Advice for You!

London, Ont.—"I wish I could tell all the women in the world who suffer with woman's trouble, what a wonderful medicine Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is. My earliest experience with it was during my first expectancy. I became dropsical and my people were quite alarmed about my condition. The doctor's medicine did not seem to reach my trouble at all so my husband urged me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and to please him I did. Before I had finished the second bottle the distress and dropsy left me and I felt in absolutely perfect health. I had no further trouble from that time on. I afterwards took Favorite Prescription whenever in a nervous rundown condition and it always strengthened and built me up."—Mrs. Lily Stodart, 438 Ontario St. At all drug stores or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, in Bridgeburg, Ont. for trial pkts. tables.

MANY CHILDREN SICK, HOW TO TREAT THEM

The kiddies will get their feet wet, catch cold, get croup and give their mothers lots of trouble. With the first cough or sneeze, rub the little one's chest with Nerviline, rub it on plentifully, it can't harm. Then make a gargle with Nerviline and water, and have the child gargle for five minutes. Just at bed time, give the child ten drops of Nerviline in hot sweetened water. The result is fine, and next morning child is better. Nerviline is a great protection in the home. Large 35c bottles at all dealers.

Farmers to Discuss Group Insurance
Winnipeg.—The annual district convention of the United Farmers of Manitoba will discuss group life insurance for farmers, according to an announcement made here by W. K. Wood, Secretary. The proposals of the provincial board will be sent out to all locals in the course of the next two weeks, but are not yet fully developed.

GREEK REFUGEES IN PANIC

FEARFUL LEST TURKS WILL ARRIVE BEFORE THEY CAN LEAVE THRACE

Rodosio, Thrace.—This town has become a jumping-off place in the Greek evacuation of Eastern Thrace. Twenty-eight thousand panic-stricken refugees are gathered here, all dominated by the same fear of the Turk that awayed the refugee crowds in Smyrna three weeks ago.

Everybody believes the Turks are almost at the door and nothing can reassure them. The general belief is that the Kemalists will arrive simultaneously with the British troops of occupation and every refugee expects to put a long stretch of water between himself and Rodosio before that event. The whole town and all its extra populace have abandoned any pretence of performing normal duties and have gathered along the beaches awaiting nervously for the ships which do not come.

A body of peasants with about 1,000 farm wagons left recently for a railway station 20 miles to the north on a rumor that the trains would await them there, but the long procession, bedraggled by the rain returned, having been turned back by the military, who told them they must be evacuated by the sea.

All the shops, even the bakeries, are closed and their owners are with the crowds around the narrow plank quays. The Government has discontinued its bread ration. Mayor Magaritis and most of the other civil officials left recently.

DIARRHOEA IS DANGEROUS To Teething Babies DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for the babies when cutting their teeth, and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum or any other bowel trouble. There is no remedy so safe and effective for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have used it speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18th, 1921, as follows:—"A week ago my baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two stomach teeth, and was so sick he couldn't eat or sleep, and had the diarrhoea most terribly bad; his rectum was raw and bleeding, but after giving him Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry regularly for three days he was as well as any boy could be. I wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold gold."

Will Assist Farmers In Drought Areas To Secure Other Locations

Edmonton, Alta.—Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, called on Premier Greenfield in connection with a proposal for granting extra homesteads to those farmers who have been unable, on account of continued drought conditions, or other reasons for which they are not themselves responsible, to make good.

Legislation to this effect will be brought before the Dominion House at the next session, states Mr. Stewart, and in case it is decided to grant the extra homesteads, the provincial authorities will be given the responsibility of stating who should be given the opportunity of moving. This would mean that on the recommendation of the Provincial Government, farmers would be given an opportunity to leave their present homesteads in the south and file on others in the north. There has been a definite effort on the part of the provincial authorities, with the assistance of the Dominion and railway officials, to assist these farmers in the drought area to get on lands in the north, where they can make a living. As it is, they have lost all interest in their farms, owe machinery and loan companies, and in many cases are moving off and leaving the country. It is felt by the Dominion Government that this exodus could be stopped by giving further option to file on homesteads, and thus keep in the country good farmers and men accustomed to conditions. There are a great many farmers of the south who are anxious to move and start again in a better locality, or at least, where weather conditions are not so uncertain.

NEW HOG GRADING RULES

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE BY
HON. W. R. MOTHERWELL.

Ottawa.—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, announces that the hog raising regulations will be made effective on October 30. The regulations under which the official grading of hogs will be undertaken have been approved as submitted, after final agreement by all interests represented by the Joint Swine Committee. In the interval between now and the date when the new regulations become effective, the new hog grading staff is being given a thorough course of instruction at the Toronto stockyards, so that the official grading regulations as established will be uniformly applied at all stockyards and abattoirs in Canada.

A Bright Outlook

National pride and confidence in Canada should be cultivated by every Canadian citizen whether native-born or Canadian by adoption. There is every reason why Canadians should be proud of and have confidence in their country, and those reasons are never more evident than during the period which has elapsed since the war, and as time passes they are becoming clearer and stronger.

Few countries, if indeed any, quite so successfully navigated the first two or three years after the Armistice as Canada had its financial worries, its industrial depression, its strikes, but these were in every respect less severe than in other countries. In fact, but for several years of repeated crop failures over considerable areas of the prairie provinces, which intensified the financial problem and because of reduced buying power operated to increase unemployment and thereby encouraged a feeling of unrest, it is doubtful if Canada's industrial depression and labor unrest would have been very noticeable. The Dominion, however, passed through the first and most difficult years of the after-war reconstruction period with ease, when compared with other countries.

Conditions in Canada are now steadily improving, and our position both nationally and individually is full of promise. A striking proof of the growing confidence of Canadians in their own Dominion was shown in connection with the recent Conversion Loan of the Federal Government when present holders of maturing Victory Bonds took advantage of the offer to exchange the same for a new issue so generally that practically the full amount was thus provided for and the Minister of Finance will not be obliged to rely upon foreign capital. Canadians have thus demonstrated that, not only were they willing to purchase their country's securities to win the war, but they are just as willing to buy such securities in time of peace.

All national currencies which went to a heavy discount in the United States during and immediately following the war, the Canadian dollar was the first to recover and get back to par.

The trade of Canada is steadily expanding, and doing so in the most healthy fashion. That is to say, the marked increase in the total trade of the Dominion being noted from time to time consists almost entirely of an increase in export trade. Imports are remaining stationary or slightly decreasing, thus showing that the Dominion is becoming more and more self-contained and reliant, while its credit rises throughout the world. More and more Canada is attracting capital and drawing gold from other lands, while at the same time we are obliged to send less money out of the country to meet international obligations.

A wonderful impetus to this movement will undoubtedly result from this year's bumper crop in the West—the largest, it is now said, in the history of the Prairies, and even greater in volume than the record breaking crop of 1915.

The deficit in the operation of the National Railways is steadily decreasing, and while it may take some years yet to place that great system in a position where it will be able to pay all its fixed charges, the day is approaching when it will more than earn its operating expenses and leave a small surplus to apply on capital charges. There is a growing feeling of optimism regarding the road's future.

Building operations throughout the Dominion this year have reached a total only comparable with some of the best pre-war years, and in all lines of industrial activity there is a marked increase in business and a consequent lessening of unemployment. In fact, the report from some of the Western labor bureaus is now to the effect that there are more jobs offering than there are applicants for them.

Debt liquidation is proceeding apace and a stronger, healthier financial situation steadily developing. There is nothing in the nature of a boom in evidence, and certainly no one having the best interests of the Dominion at heart desires to see anything of that nature develop. There is, however, a sane, substantial betterment taking place, and all indications point to a continuance of this throughout the coming year.

Apart from its debt paying possibilities, the chief value of the 1923 Western crop is in the restoration of confidence among thousands of people who, it must frankly be admitted, were becoming somewhat discouraged. While the bountiful yields this year are an exception to the rule, they have also demonstrated that the very lean years recently experienced are also an exception. More normal times are ahead, and with renewed confidence the Canadian people can with their usual average ability and energy build a prosperous future for themselves and their country.

Estimates Canadian Wheat Yield
Canada's official estimate of wheat production for 1922, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and based on conditions at the end of August, was 288,772,000 bushels, as against 200,855,100 bushels last year. Subsequent estimates, it is believed, will tend to increase these figures considerably, as conditions in the wheat growing areas subsequent to Sept. 1 were very favorable to heavier yields.

Minard's Liniment Lumberman's Friend

Are you enjoying a harvest of health?

IN THE plump kernels of wheat and barley Nature plants the seeds of human energy, which man himself must utilize in order to enjoy a harvest of health.

These nutritious grains are carefully selected and scientifically converted into crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts, which provides the nutritive and mineral elements that Nature intended for the use of man.

The 20-hour baking process partially pre-digests the starch and makes Grape-Nuts a rich and delicious food which digests easily and assimilates quickly.

Try a dish of crisp and crunchy Grape-Nuts with good rich milk for breakfast or lunch. Grape-Nuts also makes delicious pudding for your dinner. It is wonderfully sustaining and satisfying these brisk November days.

Canada's Envious Position In Economic Sense Is Subject For Comment

With the threat of a Turkish war removed from the international horizon, with the prospect of industrial peace being maintained at home and with a bumper crop now making its way into the markets, the outlook in Canada today is brighter than it has been for many a week past.

The whole situation is sufficiently summed up in an appreciation prepared by an eastern investment house in Paris, this says: "The marketing of grain and other agricultural products will set in motion this year a golden stream estimated at approximately two billion dollars internationally. Canada's financial standing is an enviable one. With United States funds selling at a discount today, Canadian money demands a premium in all the countries of the world. Such a position has its foundation, to a large extent, on high production in our fundamental industries and in our manufactures and the resulting trade and commerce. Production of the proportions indicated by this year's preliminary reports must inevitably result in a marked stimulus in every line of commercial endeavor. Better times undoubtedly are in store for every portion of our economic fabric. This year's abundant agricultural production is a long stride forward toward prosperity."

The rapidity with which this year's harvest is being converted into cash is indicated by the fact that in the period from September 1 to October 5, the Canadian Pacific Railway marketed 68,000,000 bushels of grain. This constitutes a record, the highest previous figure having been 32,000,000 in 1915.

This, however, is but a small proportion of the total crop. Government estimates just published at Washington place Canada's production of wheat alone at 383,732,000 bushels as compared with 300,855,000 last year. Wheat output of the world, exclusive of Russia and Mexico, is computed at 2,912,283,000 bushels as compared to revised estimates for the same countries of 2,949,974,000 for last year. Decrease in available world supplies, however, may not be reflected in proportionately increased export demand for Canadian wheat, in view of the greatly lessened purchasing power of many of the countries of the world. Nor will the improved status of the Canadian dollar facilitate business with those countries whose currency is still badly depreciated.

Interesting basis for a lesson in international economics will be provided by statistics which show that during the month of August, Canada was Uncle Sam's best customer. Not only did the United States buy more from this country than any other nation in the world, but she also sold more to us than to anyone else. But the value of the goods she sold to us dropped by $12,000,000 as compared to last year, while Canada increased her sales to the States by $5,000,000. This is in part explained by a rush to avoid the incidence of what many Americans have come to describe as Washington's latest "tariff of abominations." Later return will show whether Uncle Sam has cut off his nose in order to help something where it will cut his purse. In the meantime, the Wall Street Journal has pointed out that the new duties, largely inspired by the agricultural bloc, have not benefited the farmer to the extent of a single cent in the price commanded by his wheat, which is still subject to the immutable laws of world supply and world demand.

Saskatchewan Farmer's Heavy Yield
C. L. H. Jordan, farmer in the Grace district, nine miles south of Mitchellton, has threshed one of the heaviest crops reported so far this year. He secured 11,378 bushels of wheat of 24 cwt. of summer-fallow. The wheat grain was bumper and weighed 65 pounds to the bushel. The average yield was 32 1/2 bushels per acre.

India Rubber for Paper Making

Very Small Quantity Improves Strength and Quality

Among the numerous suggestions for utilizing rubber, few are more attractive than the proposal to make rubber a constituent of paper. The means by which this may be successfully done have been worked out by a British inventor, who has made experiments on a considerable scale. He uses the actual sap of the rubber tree, which is a liquid with a strong resinous blance to milk. When this liquid is mixed with the material from which paper is made, it has a remarkable effect in improving the strength and quality of the paper. A very small quantity of rubber actually enters into the constitution of the paper; in fact one per cent. seems to be about the best figure. About fourteen million tons of paper are produced every year and it is calculated that if rubber were used for half this output it would absorb most of the surplus rubber which at present forms an embarrassment to the whole rubber industry. Progress of these British experiments is therefore being watched with the greatest interest. Curiously enough, the paper is not made waterproof by the amount of rubber usually employed, although its finish and its strength are greatly improved. It is, however, possible by using more rubber to produce waterproof paper which will be suitable for packing liquid and semi-liquid substances. Experiments have proved that it is possible to dye paper which has been treated with rubber.

Wisdom of Preparedness

Only Safe Course Is Making Provision For Emergencies

The wisdom of preparedness is not a new thing. We learn it from Holy Writ and by means of studying the ways of even creeping things. The ants are not strong in body, but strong in mind; they prepare themselves against the evil day, and thus in time of distress are no really stronger than the giants, for they have enough. The comies were little rabbits that had no aggressive weapons and no defense except flight; but by building their houses in the rocks these feeble folk became just as strong as their impregnable homes. The locusts learned what no community of human beings has ever yet learned: how to make their world safe for democracy; they have no tyrannical and capricious king, yet they understand how to govern themselves and can live and work together harmoniously; the ugly spider rises aloft, and dwells, with all her ugliness, in the splendid palace of the king. She aspires. And so these four humble creatures are illustrations to the obedient and prudent ideas: The wisdom of preparedness, the wisdom of safety, the wisdom of cooperation and the wisdom of beauty.

Where Gas Is Wasted

Great Waste of Gasoline By Preventable Evaporation

Sufficient gasoline is being wasted annually in the United States, through preventable evaporation in storage tanks, to run a car 1,440,000,000 miles, the equivalent of more than seven round trips between the earth and the sun. This deduction has been adduced through a series of tests conducted by the United States Bureau of Mines and Engineers of Johns-Manville, Inc., at Highgate and Trumbull, Ohio. It was further computed that the 775 un-insulated storage tanks in the United States holding gasoline and crude oil, each with a capacity of 55,000 barrels, are losing by evaporation more than 4,000,000 gallons of gasoline every month, and that these losses are largely controllable by the application of proper insulation.

The rate at which these losses of gasoline from storage tanks take place is calculated at about six per cent. a year, while that for crude oil is about three per cent.

Fifty Years Of British Cable Enterprise

Magnificent Triumph Against a Host Of Technical and Physical Difficulties

Recently there was celebrated in Great Britain in the presence of the Duke of York and of a large and distinguished company, the jubilee of a group of submarine cable companies which have developed a huge and successful system of cables in many parts of the world. When the company was formed there were only eight thousand miles of cable in existence. Today there are 325,000 miles. The whole of the capital and technical skill and commercial enterprise for this great business came from Great Britain, and represents a magnificent triumph against a host of technical and physical difficulties. The lead which Great Britain took in submarine telegraphy has been followed likewise in wireless telegraphy, the first successful commercial experiments in which were conducted in British waters, while the first company to work wireless communication on a business basis was also formed in Great Britain.

Dominion Parks Branch Will Mark And Preserve Historic Sites In Canada

A board of historians has been appointed to superintend the work of marking and preserving the historic sites in conjunction with the Dominion Parks Branch. Many of the sites are of national importance and work is soon to begin on their restoration. The first decision made by the board was to make a detailed survey of historic landmarks and to date nearly six hundred have been inspected.

In addition, nearly sixty aboriginal earthworks have been chosen for preservation, and steps are being taken by the Dominion Parks Branch toward securing titles to the sites and having them suitably marked. An artistic tablet to be used in this connection has been designed by a well known Canadian artist, and plaques are being cast in bronze. An attractive design has also been made for a memorial cairn, built of rough stones, which it is intended to erect on those sites where the original remains have been effaced.

"While the value of the momentous work of preserving historic landmarks may not be fully appreciated by the present generation," says a bulletin of the Canadian Pacific Railway, "future Canadians will undoubtedly be fastidiously greater pride in their country's history as a result. In addition, these remains of early settlement in Canada will no doubt become the Mecca for thousands of tourists from all countries, more especially the United States, whose history is so closely interwoven with that of Canada."

"Since 1605, when the first settlement was established in Canada by De Monte at Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia," continues the report, "Canada's development has been rapid, and today is recorded as an equal by many of those countries from which she drew the nucleus of her present population. Of the sufferings and sacrifices of the early inhabitants we have many interesting, detailed accounts, while the remains of old forts, as well as the thick-walled, loop-holed habitat of the settler, are mute evidence of the dangers which they were constantly exposed to from the periodic raids of Indians."

"Many of these structures have been obliterated; some are still intact; while in many instances only a few stones mark the spot where once a bustling community existed. In addition, a great number of relics of both English and French occupation are in the possession of individuals, societies, museums, etc., and in order that future generations, and those who may arrive from other countries in years to come, may be familiar with Canadian traditions, the Federal Government has under way a comprehensive plan for the marking and preserving of those historic landmarks, which have hitherto been neglected, as well as looking after those already marked."

"Each province has numerous landmarks which are closely connected with its history, and in this connection the province of Quebec is especially rich. The Citadel at Quebec City, which is in an excellent state of preservation, is one of the finest examples of early fortifications still existing on the American continent. Near Three Rivers is the ruin of the old St. Maurice fortress, which were erected in 1720 and operated until 1859 under both French and English regimes. Their great furnaces, gun-shots, stoves, plows and many other implements required by the settler were manufactured. Montreal has many interesting historical sites, the walls of numerous old buildings in the city are decorated with tablets recording some historical incident which has transpired within its walls."

In Western Canada there are many traces of the early trading posts erected by the hardy Scotch factors and explorers of the Hudson Bay Company and the Northwest Trading Company. The famous trading post, Fort Garry, erected by Lord Selkirk for the protection of his infant colony spread along the banks of the Red River, has been carefully preserved and on the site now stands the City of Winnipeg, the gateway through which the flood of golden grain from Western Canada and its fertile farms passes on its way to feed the people of the Old World.

"At Lake Windermere the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Hudson Bay Company recently began the erection of a replica of 'Kootenay House,' the first trading post in the interior of British Columbia, on the site of the original post. The old post was erected in 1807 by David Thompson, the famous astronomer and explorer for the Northwest Company, and was later acquired by the Hudson Bay Company in 1921."

Against Tipping

Wrong In Theory, Principle and in Practice

A great many men are of the same mind regarding the tipping evil which has attained mammoth proportions; nor does its ultimate good seem yet in sight. Tipping affects travel adversely, and is unbecoming. Besides, tipping debases both the recipient and the donor. It is wrong in theory and in principle, and in practice, the sooner it is abolished so much the better. It is unmanly to fawn and truckle for tips to commence with, and the benevolent gentlemen who persist in keeping up the practice would do well to restrain their ardor in this particular direction in future.—Montreal Gazette.

Concerning the Cherry Chickadee.

"Oh, Brownies often remind me of Chickadees," laughed Stella, the Winter Fairy, after she had watched them as they roiled and tumbled in play."

"What are Chickadees?" asked the ever curious Pinzle. He suddenly stopped Stella and came over to her. "Well, I'm surprised," she cried, "to think that you don't know what Chickadees are." They are the cunningest, cheeriest kind of birds you could possibly think about. They are small, but they are very smart."

"And is that why we remind you of them?" asked Snookums, shyly edging nearer to the Fairy. "Surely, say, why? Lookins doesn't remind you of a Chickadee?" and Pinzle smiled mischievously.

Stella didn't answer this question. She thought it best not to, as you know, she hates to hurt anyone's feelings, and after all, poor little Lorynne can never tell her being sleepy most of the time. So she turned from Pinzle to Snookums and answered his question with a nod.

"Chickadees," began Stella, "are about an inch smaller than a Sparrow, which would make them five inches long. They have black backs, throats and crowns. While chicks that look as though they run down like a sort of collar. Their wings and tails are gray with white edging, while the underside of them is a dull white. This doesn't sound as though they were as good looking as they really are, for they are awfully pretty little things; but the prettiest thing about them is their sweet, cheerful disposition. They are always chirping their merry call, which sounds like tick tick (the Fairy pursed up her tiny lips to imitate it). Chickadee-dee-dee-dee."

"Oh," exclaimed Snookums, "that's how they get their name, isn't it?" Stella nodded and continued: "Most birds leave for warm countries in the cool days of autumn, but not so the Chickadee. It stays throughout the snow and dreariness of winter, as though it feels that its little little presence helps to make things a bit more gay—and it does! And it is at its very gayest in a snowstorm. I am sure that if Chickadees could they would play snowball and pelt each other!"

"How do they nest?" asked Lorynne, whose idea of a snowstorm would be to get out of it and into some warm, comfortable place.

"They hollow out a snug hole in a tree trunk," the Fairy answered, and then, suddenly thinking of something that amused her, she smilingly added: "But they are so clever that they often save themselves this trouble by taking over a deserted old home of some Woodpecker or Nuthatch. Once I found two Chickadees keeping house very happily in a Squirrel's old hole, for it was just the kind of one that they wanted and had been hunting for."

"How about the Squirrel?" asked Pinzle. "Surely a teeming-wee Chickadee couldn't rout a Squirrel from its home."

"No; you're quite right; but in this particular case the poor little Squirrel had been killed by a thoughtful, cruel boy who had broken its leg by shooting it with a toy gun. The Squirrel struggled to reach its home, but couldn't, and it died from pain and starvation among the highest, driest, roots of a big Oak."

"You must know," she went on after a pause, "that besides making the world a gay place in Chickadees is really a very useful little citizen."

"How?" "I once told you all about the Canker Worm," Stella said, "and how quickly it can strip a whole orchard bare. Course there are thousands and thousands of them. The Canker Worms are just enemies are the Chickadees, for they often eat from five to six thousand Canker Worm eggs in one day, and if it were not for these hungry, industrious little birds there would soon be more Canker Worms than fruits in the world. Besides, the Chickadees are insects and their eggs Chickadees live on seeds and berries, and they lay from five to eight eggs, which are white with reddish brown spots. They're just like the Titmouse. I'll tell you about them some other day."

Crop Report

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government Buildings, Edmonton: About 90 per cent of the threshing in the province is completed.
Taking these first returns as a whole, they are disappointing and indicate that the moderate crop estimate made a few weeks ago by Dominion and Provincial officials was somewhat high.

From the figures before us, the estimate of 13 bushels of wheat per acre has only been reached by the averages of the southwestern section of the province. So far, other sections reporting are below this figure.

The estimate of the oat yields is shown to be too high, and the threshing returns would indicate that an average yield of 16 bushels would be about the figure.
The whole oat crop of Alberta will be much under that of the past few years.
On account of drought conditions in some parts of the province in the forepart of the summer, and with prospects of a short feed crop, much of the oats were cut for green feed.

The first damaging frost came to the province about Oct. 10. This has given this province a particularly long crop season, with the result that in the south portion of the province certain areas of oats sown late for green feed have matured and will be threshed.

One thing indicated by the threshers' returns from all sections, is that in a season of such peculiar climatic conditions as we have had in 1922, that summer fallowing and good farming has brought the best results.

Olds School of Agriculture.

Tuesday next, Oct. 31, the doors of the Provincial School of Agriculture will swing open to receive students for the ninth year.

Despite the difficult financial situation that obtains at the present time, prospects for a good attendance are very rosy.

The courses for young men and young women, in Agriculture and Domestic Science respectively, are of a very practical nature, and the information given is the result of many years of scientific investigation and practical observation.

Dormitory accommodation, in a modern home and including board, room and laundry, has been provided for young women at a rate as reasonable as $23 per month.

Good accommodation can be had by the boys, at a slight increase in cost, in private homes in the town.
Young people cannot do better than to spend the winter furthering their education and thus bettering themselves for their future life.

A tuition should also be given to the extension service provided by the School. Speakers will be sent on request when possible, for farmers' women institute and similar meetings, and valuable information by letter or bulletin, will be dispensed on application, gladly and free of charge.

One E. H. Holt, Esq. Dollars
On Account CANADIAN POWER FARMER

YOU GET
THE AMOUNT OF THAT CHEQUE

We have made arrangements with the E. H. Holt Co. Limited who publish the CANADIAN POWER FARMER whereby we are able to offer that farm magazine together with our own weekly at the one price for both papers.

The CANADIAN POWER FARMER is Western Canada's biggest farm monthly. It is now in its twelfth year which means that it is thoroughly established throughout the West.
It deals with the mechanical side of the farm.
Every issue is full of helpful hints and experiences on the operation of all kinds of farm machinery from a washing-machine to a tractor. Its editorial staff consists of men thoroughly familiar with every branch of farming both from the practical and theoretical standpoint. Every month the magazine publishes experiences sent in by readers. Many of these are short cut findings that are real money savers to farmers.

This offer may be withdrawn at any time.
Without doubt your intention is to renew for this weekly, then why not take advantage now.
Your subscription to this weekly together with a year's subscription to the CANADIAN POWER FARMER for the same price as this weekly alone. This is where you get the $1.25.
Mail your cheque or drop into our office the first time you are in town.

When Chickens Are a Nuisance

Changes in the Game Act may be made at the next session of the Legislature whereby provision will be made for issuing permits to farmers to shoot prairie chicken in cases where the birds are proving to be a nuisance. Permits will be granted only on satisfactory assurance that the chickens are actually destroying grain, and the permits will be only for such limited time as may be necessary to stop the thieving. Legislation along this line was in force in parts of Saskatchewan this season, and is said to have proven satisfactory.

Calgary Citizen Gains Twenty-One Pounds

Alex. Hayman, a World War Veteran and well-known resident of 627 Fifth Ave., West, Calgary, Alberta, is still another who has found Taniae safe and sure "road back to health, strength and working efficiency."

"I am not only feeling better than I have in years," says Mr. Hayman, "but I have actually gained twenty-one pounds and you may know by that what I think of Taniae. My stomach and kidneys had been badly out of order for nearly four years and my appetite had deserted me entirely. Everything I would eat caused indigestion and as a result I lost twenty-five pounds in weight. I lost energy and strength until I just felt that each day would be the last I could stay on the job. At times my back was so lame and stiff that I could hardly raise myself up out of bed. The power of endurance had left me and I just seemed to be 'dead on my feet' so to speak."

"But it only took Taniae a few weeks to set me right and I am now, feeling fine. I thoroughly enjoy my three square meals a day, for I have a wonderful appetite and everything agrees with me perfectly. To be in such good health after feeling miserable so long is certainly something to be thankful for and I cannot praise Taniae too highly."

Taniae is sold by all good druggists.

PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsay, Ontario.—"I used to have very bad pains in my back and sides and often was not able to do my work. I tried many medicines before I began to take yours. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Toronto Globe' and now that it has helped me I recommend it to all of my neighbors. I keep it in the house all the time and take it once in a while no matter how well I feel, for one ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

—ELIZABETH CAMPBELL, 13 St. Paul St., Lindsay, Ontario.

"To do any kind of work—and you know there is much to be done—is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back to ache or a pain in your side; it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of these troubles, and restore them to normal health.

Dr. Barnardo's Homes

25,889 Boys and Girls Have Been Sent to Canada

The fifty-sixth annual report of Dr. Barnardo's Homes records important additions to the "machinery of rescue" during 1921. These include the William Baker Technical School, Goldings, near Heyford, a new convalescent home for cases of surgical tuberculosis at Folkestone, new base at Toronto for immigration work in Canada, and three new houses at the boys' garden city at Woodford Bridge.

The emigration of year is described as having been of annual interest. "Canada has received 506 of our best boys and girls, bringing up the total of those whom we have sent to the Dominion to 26,880. But Australia has stepped into line as a competitor with Canada. An influential committee has been formed in Sydney. A new home has been purchased and presented to the Barnardo Institutions as an emigration centre, and our first official party sailed for Sydney in August. It was a small party of only forty-seven boys, but they were boys of the finest type. They have won golden opinions in the fifth continent, and every province is calling out for more of the same class. It is plain that in Australia the future of guaranteed emigrants such as our boys are assured from a 'worldly point of view. Further parties will doubtless follow in the wake of the first. From 1886 to the end of 1921, 29,530 boys and girls entered the homes."

A Community Cow

Church in North Carolina Has Success With New Venture

Buying a cow and renting it at $1 a week to families in the congregation is how the Church by the Side of the Road in Greensboro, N.C., is attempting to provide fresh milk for those who are unable to keep cows of their own. It is a new venture in church economy, but is apparently working out satisfactorily for both church and congregation. The income from the cow is to be applied, we are told, to the purchase of more cows. Eventually, and if the plan is continued, the Church by the Side of the Road will have a community herd. —Literary Digest.

Women and the Ministry

The discipline committee of the Methodist Church has reported against admitting women to the ministry, and accordingly, is several years behind the legal and medical professions. Women will have to content themselves in future, as one bright Methodist woman writer has said, "in the humble task of paying off the church mortgages." —Calgary Alberta.

Aeroplane in Saskatchewan
Saskatchewan claims that her air pilots last year carried far more passengers and flew many more miles than those of any other province. During the year Saskatchewan pilots carried 3,622 passengers, 2,000 more than Manitoba the next highest, and 2,500 more than British Columbia. They flew 95,123 pilot miles as against 64,000 in Alberta, the next highest. An agitation is under way for the establishment in the province of a Government air station because of this record.

PAINS OF NEURALGIA

This Painful Trouble Is Due to Poverty of the Blood

Neuralgia is one of the most painful maladies that afflicts humanity. The trouble is usually seated in the face or head, following the course of some nerve, but it attacks other parts of the body as well. It is characterized by acute spasmodic pain, steady, at times lancinating, and almost unbearable. Medical authorities agree that neuralgia is due to poverty of the blood—that the nerves are actually being starved. It is further agreed that if the blood is purified and enriched the trouble will disappear. It is for this reason that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been so successful in treating neuralgia. They enrich the blood which feeds the starved, aching nerves and thus bring relief to the sufferer. Proof of the value of these pills in cases of this kind is given by Mrs. M. Brown, R.R. No. 1, Warsaw, Ont. who says: "I have taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and can recommend them as being the best medicine I know of for neuralgia. Two years ago I had an attack of this trouble in the neck and shoulder. The repeated attacks of the pain were of such frightful intensity that my life was almost unbearable. I consulted two doctors and took their medicine, but without relief. I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills years ago, when they helped me wonderfully, and I decided to try them again. Before I had taken more than a half dozen boxes the pain had disappeared, and I have since enjoyed the best of health, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

A Privileged Character

Motorist Not Obligated to Possess Skill And Judgment

An automobile has no rails, no block signals, no time schedule to regulate speed. Except in the neighborhood of towns there is, for the most part, no responsibility that the driver fears. Yet a momentarily unsteady hand or careless eye may result in the death not only of the driver, but of the most careful wayfarer he encounters. The motorists, in brief, should possess many times the skill, judgment and stability of character required by the locomotive engineer; yet we permit anyone who can mount the driver's seat to inflict his incapacity upon the public.—New York Times.

Grain From Vancouver to Europe

The first Canadian grain booking made from Vancouver to Europe in 1921 was on October 28th. This year already 56,000 tons have been booked from the Pacific coast port to points in Europe.

Women and Asthma. Women are numbered among the sufferers from asthma by the countless thousands. In every climate they will be found helpless in the grip of this relentless disease unless they have availed themselves of the proper remedy. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought new hope and life to many cases. Testimonials sent entirely without solicitation, show the enormous benefit it has wrought among women everywhere.

To Make Stale Bread New

"Do not throw away a stale loaf. By the following simple method it can be made quite appetizing."

Take a clean cloth and soak it thoroughly in cold water.

Wipe the loaf with the damp cloth all over until the surface is well moistened.

Make the oven properly hot and place the wet loaf inside. In about ten minutes the loaf will be quite crisp and, some people consider, better than when it was new.

When the outside of the loaf is crisp to the touch, it is time to take it out of the oven.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

Considering the annoyances of life, a patient man or woman is entitled to a great deal of credit.

If Millers' Worm Powders needed the support of testimonials they could be got from mothers who know the great virtue of this excellent medicine. But the mothers speak for themselves and in such a way that there can be no question of them. They act speedily and thoroughly, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting.

Alm Not Perfect

Walter (to irate customer).—We aim to please.

Customer.—Then I'd advise a little target practice.—Washington and Lee Mint.

An Oil without Alcohol.—Some oils and many medicines have alcohol as a prominent ingredient. A judicious mingling of six essential oils compose Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping is in simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal-oil). The inventor, T. Johnson, 579 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Manitoba Market Gardening

What it is hoped will result in great encouragement to the market garden industry in Manitoba is the organization and registration of the Manitoba Vegetable Growers' Association with a capital of $100,000. The company will store and ship locally grown garden products offsetting the large wastage which occurs each year and the many sales at quite unremunerative prices.
